ACC champ York leads Terps into wrestling finals

By Tommy Ventre
Diamondback staff writer

Nearly two weeks after standout performances at the ACC championships, Terrapins sophomore Brandon York, Mark Mansueto, Rob Booth and Josh Weidman will wrestle for national titles today through Saturday at the NCAA championships in St. Louis.

York leads the Terp contingent, which is the largest they have sent to nationals since five went in 1997. The 133-pounder won his second straight ACC championship March 4, beating top-seeded Brad Byers from North Carolina, 6-1. His team-best 34-6 record earned him the No. 19 national ranking in his class in the latest Amateur Wrestling News poll.

Mansueto (141) was 10-1 in dual meets this year, including 4-0 against ACC competition. He nearly won his class at the ACCs, losing a tight match to Virginia's P.J. Bory.

Booth is the most surprising Terrapin qualifier. He posted an unimpressive 15-14 record but made a run to the final of the 157-pound class at the ACCs, eventually losing York has won the ACC title in the 133-pound weight class in 1999, 2000 and 2001.

Season Preview

2001-02 SEASON OUTLOOK

Returning 11 lettermen and six starters, the 2001-2002 Terrapin wrestling team is posed for a breakout year. With 16 freshmen newcomers added to the squad, the team is relatively young. Four NCAA qualifiers return balancing out the Terrapin attack. Coach John McHugh will try to mix his young talent with the experience of his older wrestlers in hopes of rebuilding on last year's 5-5 dual record.

The 2001 version of the wrestling team placed fifth at the ACC Championships, sending four wrestlers to the NCAA nationals for the second consecutive year. Three of the four NCAA qualifiers who made the trip to Iowa City last year are back, adding to an explosive Maryland starting lineup which also returns another NCAA qualifier from the 2000 campaign. Leading the way for the Terps will be three-time ACC champion and three-time NCAA qualifier, senior Brandon York. This year, York will take on a new challenge as he moves up to contend at the 141-pound weight class. Other returning NCAA qualifiers who look to make another trip to nationals, held this year in Albany, N.Y., include seniors Josh Weidman, a two-time NCAA qualifier, and Jake Stork who will compete at 165 and 184 pounds respectively.

Maryland also returns three more veterans including sophomore Jeremy Duncan at the heavyweight position who comes off a redshirt season. After completing their first year as starters in 2001, redshirt junior Bryan Robinovitz returns at 149 and senior Joe Guzzio returns at 125 to round out a very experienced starting lineup.

Coach McHugh has a bright outlook on the season and aspirations of claiming his first ACC title at Maryland while taking at least four qualifiers to nationals for the third straight year.

"I feel this team has great potential to win an ACC title," he said. "We have talent in every position and have worked hard in the off-season. Brandon York has a chance to make new strides in Maryland wrestling and our team has a great chance to stride to the top of the ACC this season."

Junior Matt Pandullo is expected to take over the starting position vacated by Joe Guzzio who beefed up to 133. Pandullo sat out last season as a redshirt, compiling an 8-1 record in two tournaments. He captured second place at the Coppin State Open. He will be pushed by freshmen Mike Lupa and Jason Gribschaw.

133

Joe Guzzio will move up to start at 133 after compiling a 6-4 record last year as the team's regular starter at 125. He will fill the shoes of York who moved up to 141. A three-time letterman, Guzzio recorded 19 wins, including six pins last season. He placed fourth at both the East Stroudsburg Open and Sunshine Open.

141

Senior Brandon York beefed up over the summer on a rigorous strength and conditioning program and is now the starter at 141. He moves up from the 133-pound weight class where he won three ACC titles. Coach McHugh was happy about the move saying, "Brandon worked hard over the summer and is much more active in practice competing at 141." Freshman Ed Reybitz will also compete at 141.

149

Redshirt junior Bryan Robinovitz, a two-time letterman, is expected to return for his second season as the starter at 149. Last season, Robinovitz won three dual matches and finished fourth at the ACC Championships. Freshman Adam James will challenge for the starting job. He comes to Maryland after winning the Maryland high school state championship last year.

157

Freshman John Antonelli won the starting job at 157 over high school teammate Jason Ellis. Antonelli comes from Pennsylvania where he was a three-time state qualifier. He is expected to be the only freshman on this year's roster to assume a starting role. Ellis owns the career (322) and season (110) records for takedowns at Norristown High School.

165

Senior Josh Weidman continued his success last season, winning a career-best 29 matches including an impressive 10-2 dual record. Weidman, a two-time NCAA qualifier and ACC Runner-up in 2000, will return as the starter at 165. He will be challenged by freshman Sean Fehn, who placed fourth at the national high school championships as a junior. Redshirt freshman Pat Cissne could also see some time at 165. Cissne wrestled four matches last season at the Penn State Open, compiling a 2-2 record.

174

Redshirt sophomore Mark Reid is the top returning wrestler at 184. After lettering in 2000, Reid redshirted last season, wrestling in three matches at the East Stroudsburg Open. He will be challenged by freshman Barry Stein, a high school regional champion in New York. Junior Lance Kearns will also compete at 174.

184

Redshirt junior Jake Stork, an NCAA qualifier last season, returns as the starter at 184. Stork was a runner-up at the ACC Championships, finishing the year with a team-high 11 dual meet wins. He notched falls in all 12 dual meets, last season. Freshman Dan Scheets could also see some time at 184.

197

Hwt.

Redshirt sophomore Jeremy Duncan will assume the starting job at the heavyweight position after redshirting last season. Duncan wrestled in three tournaments, placing fifth at the Penn State Open. Sophomore Lawrence MacDonald will challenge Duncan.

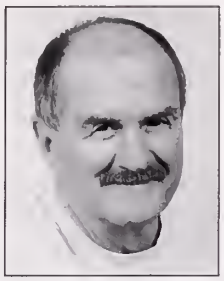
Four NCAA Qualifiers For Two Straight Years

HEAD COACH JOHN McHUGH

24th season at Maryland • Maryland '59



As an 87-pound junior high school student, John McHugh never pictured himself in the sport of wrestling. Today, he could not picture his life without it. As one of the most successful coaches and wrestlers in Terrapin history, McHugh looks toward another strong recruiting class to carry him into the future. In his 24th year at the helm in College Park, McHugh has become a symbol of Maryland wrestling with his 270-167-8 career record.

Since becoming the head coach in 1978, after nine years as an assistant, he has coached six student-athletes to All-American status and had 24 ACC champions. His legacy has stretched to the point where the National Wrestling Hall of Fame honored him with a Lifetime Service Award in 1995. Although he has become one of the most respected coaches in the NCAA, his focus has always remained on the present season and working with his team.

While his slight junior high school frame was not enough to keep him out of wrestling as a youngster, his perseverance has pushed him into success ever since. When his older brother told him that the nearby high school varsity team needed someone for their 95-pound weight class, McHugh jumped at the chance. He recalls that on the first day he arrived wearing just a bathing suit and left with burns all over his body from the horse hair-covered mat. He quickly adjusted to the surface and, as a sophomore, won the regionals. By his senior year, he was the state champion.

Upon graduating, McHugh won a scholarship to the University of Maryland where he became a two-time ACC champion and made the nationals three times. His career was highlighted by an appearance in the NCAA semifinals in his senior year—only to be pinned by an Olympian after taking an early 7-3 lead. From Maryland, he spent the next decade in multiple places from his three years of active duty as a captain in the Marine reserves to coaching at both American University and Catholic University. During this period of time, he attained a master's degree in physical education and taught numerous classes. In 1969, McHugh returned to Maryland as an assistant coach, eventually taking over the reigns from William "Sully" Krouse.

While he regrets passing up the opportunity to earn a doctorate in physical education, John McHugh has followed his true passion, and will continue to run the Maryland wrestling program with the heart and determination that he showed on the mats as a Terrapin wrestler.

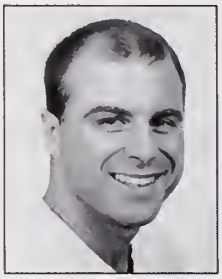
ASSISTANT COACH TOM MILLER

5th season at Maryland · Maryland '92

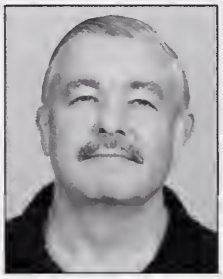


Tom Miller is in his first year as a full-time assistant coach on the Maryland staff. At the end of last season, Miller was elevated to a full-time position after serving four years as a graduate assistant coach for Maryland. He returns to College Park after graduating in 1992 with a double major in business/marketing and transportation, but his legacy as a wrestler has always remained. On the mats for the Terps, Miller was a two-time ACC champion at 142 pounds and an All-American in his senior season. He finished his career with 98 victories.

At Elizabethtown High School in Pennsylvania, he recorded his first major accolade with a coveted Pennsylvania state championship. His success in wrestling has made a solid impact on his future. Upon graduating from Maryland, Miller became a manager for a trucking company in Altoona, Pa., and he is currently employed full-time as a manager of a local restaurant.

ASSISTANT COACH KEVIN KEARNS

22nd season at Maryland · Maryland '75



Former Terrapin letterwinner Kevin Kearns enters his 22nd season as an assistant on the Maryland staff. Kearns started at Maryland as a student in 1966. In 1970, while a captain of the wrestling team, Kearns was drafted into the United States Army. He served with the 101st Airborne Division in a Recon Team in Vietnam in 1971 and 1972.

Upon his completion of military duty, Kearns returned to the Maryland wrestling program in 1972-73. While earning his bachelor's degree in physical education, he assisted Coach McHugh and the team. Wrestling during this time for the Baltimore Central YMCA, Kearns won the national YMCA Greco championship, the prestigious New York Athletic Club Greco championship and two South Atlantic AAU freestyle championships.

After receiving his degree, he moved to Minnesota to train and wrestle for the United States Greco Roman team. Returning to Maryland in 1976, Kearns was named head coach at Dulaney High School in Timonium, Md. In 1977, he was selected to take the head coaching position at Johns Hopkins University, but returned to Maryland in 1980, where he has served at his current position ever since.

2000-01 SEASON RECAP

With seven starters returning, including four NCAA qualifiers, when the season started back in November, head coach John McHugh looked forward to capturing his first ACC title at the helm of the Maryland program in 2000-2001.

The Terps finished 1-3 in the conference, placing fourth at the ACC Championships. They finished the year with an even 6-6 dual meet record. Individual performances highlighted the season, including four NCAA qualifiers for the second straight year and crowned two ACC Champions.

Junior Brandon York captured his third ACC Championship at 133 pounds, earning a third straight bid to the NCAA Tournament. He became the first Maryland wrestler since Steve Peperack in 1987 to accomplish this feat. The junior finished the year 31-5, with a perfect 10-0 dual meet record. York placed in all five tournaments he wrestled in, garnering ACC wrestler of the week honors during the season.

Senior Mark Mansueto, redshirt-sophomore Jake Stork and junior Josh Weidman joined York at nationals. Mansueto and Stork also joined York as a member of the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team in 2001.

Mansueto captured his first ACC title at 141 pounds to earn the trip to Iowa City. He placed in three tournaments, capturing the title at the Sunshine Open as well. He finished the season with 25 wins and three pins.

As was predicted by coach McHugh at the beginning of the season, Stork had a breakout year in 2001. After redshirting in 2000, Stork finished the year 25-9 with a team-high 12 falls. The Pennsylvania native compiled a near flawless 11-1 dual meet mark. He garnered his first NCAA invitation, surprising a lot of people with his sudden success.

Weidman compiled a career-high 29 wins, placing in four of six tournaments including a title at the Sunshine Open. A co-captain of the team with Brandon York, he earned his second trip to nationals. After falling in the pigtail round of the ACC Championships, Weidman came back to win his next two matches to place third and earn a wild-card berth in the NCAAs.

Jeremy Duncan spent the season redshirting at the heavyweight position, wrestling in 16 matches at various tournaments. The Missouri native finished the year 12-4 placing in two of three tournaments. Matt Pandullo at 125 also redshirted in 2001, but still competed well in tournaments. He compiled a near flawless 8-1 record, competing in two tournaments with a second-place showing at the East Stroudsburg Open.

Coming off redshirts in 2001, Joe Guzzio, brother of 1997 ACC wrestler of the year James Guzzio, and Brian Robinovitz emerged as the starters at 125 and 149 respectively. Guzzio shined for the Terps, winning 19 matches with a 6-4 dual meet record. He finished the year with six pins, the third best on the team. Robinovitz won three dual meets as the starter at 149.

Redshirt sophomore Sal Aquia came off a redshirt in 2001 to become the regular starter at 184. He notched 16 wins, placing in three of four tournaments, including a runner-up finish at the Millersville Invitational.

Sophomore Bob Vorhies and junior Rob Booth were regular contributors at 197 pounds and 157 pounds respectively last season. Booth notched 15 wins, including a runner-up showing at the Sunshine Open, while Vorhies captured 13 victories on the year. Freshman James Taylor competed at the heavyweight position, earning one of the Terps' fastest pins of the season against Carl Perrone of Bucknell in 31 seconds.

Maryland is expected to return six starters next season. With Duncan coming off a redshirt, the Terps will boast a strong starting lineup to compete for an ACC title in 2002.

RITCHIE COLISEUM

Since the 1997-98 season, Ritchie Coliseum has brought Maryland wrestling enthusiasts and visiting fans excitement at its ultimate. It also has proven to be a friend of Terrapin wrestling as Maryland has compiled a 15-7-1 record on its home mat during the building's four years of operation since its renovation.

This year will be the final at Ritchie Coliseum for the team, as wrestling team will compete in the new Comcast Center beginning with the 2002-03 season. The wrestling team will have matches in the auxiliary gym in the Comcast Center.

Over the last four years, Maryland fans have poured into Ritchie in increasing numbers throughout the season last year. The Terps finished the 1999-2000 season with a perfect 5-0 mark, including a come-from-behind upset of North Carolina before a deafening crowd. Its official seating capacity is 1,850, with seating located around the mat and seat-back chairs for more comfortable viewing located in the upper bowl of the coliseum.

Ritchie was designed for all University of Maryland students. It is equipped with a new volleyball and basketball floor, a state-of-the-art weightlifting/conditioning room and a martial arts room. Those not into weight training can enroll in various excellent classes offered by the Campus Recreation Department. Whatever your interest, there is a class that fits your needs.

In just the past two years, the building has also hosted President Clinton's kickoff of his AmeriCorps campaign, Bill Maher from Politically Incorrect, rap group Wu-Tang Clan and comedian Jon Stewart.

Originally built in 1931, Ritchie Coliseum joined campus landmarks such as Rossborough Inn and Turner Dairy on Route 1 in downtown College Park. The gymnasium joined the then-nine-year-old 5,000-seat Byrd stadium, as the prime athletic facilities more than 65 years ago. The wrestling team competed at Ritchie Coliseum during the 1950s, when the facility doubled as the squad's living quarters.

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Thirteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values,""celebrate tolerance and fairness,""contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

The Campus

The University of Maryland, College Park is the most comprehensive institution of higher education, research and service in the state. The university offers 100 undergraduate majors, 88 master's programs and 69 doctoral programs in 13 colleges and schools.

The university is one of only 30 public research universities that are members of the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities. It is classified as a Research-I university by the Carnegie Foundation by virtue of the range of its baccalaureate programs, the amount of federal support received and the number of doctoral degrees awarded each year, sharing that honor with the top research universities in the country.

Among the public universities in the Association of American Universities, Maryland ranks among the top in percentage of African-American undergraduate students. In addition, the university has the largest number of African-Americans and other minority members among its peers.

Flagship Status

In 1988, the University of Maryland, College Park was designated as the flagship institution for the University System of Maryland. As well as pursuing a serious research mission and continuing its high level of service to the state, the university rededicated itself to providing the highest quality graduate and undergraduate education. Increased undergraduate opportunities for research and individual study; the development of the College Park Scholars Program and the expansion of the University Honors Program; the genesis of Honors Humanities and Gemstone; the creation of CORE, the general education program; and the establishment of the Center for Teaching Excellence all affirmed the legislature's designation of flagship.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

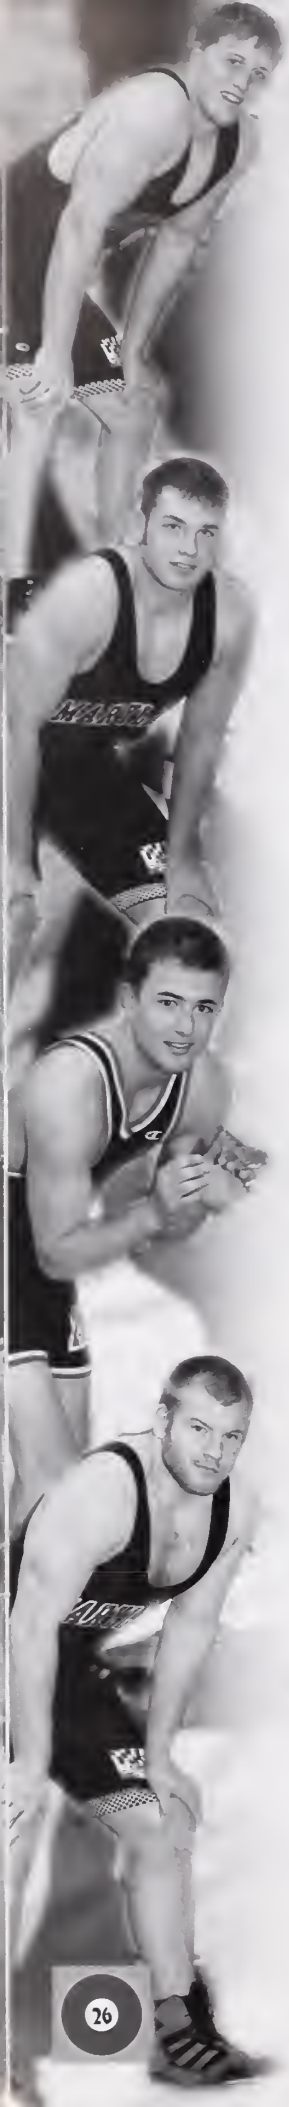
With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The University of Maryland features a diversity of cultural and recreational activities. Four art galleries, more than 200 annual musical performances and countless dance and theater productions, expose audiences to the broadest range of programs in the arts. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

A Wired World

Students at the University of Maryland are part of an academic community that enjoys free access to networked computer resources and facilities that are among the best in the country. Free computer accounts enable users to store class work on a networked server, download classroom support materials and other electronic information from campus networked resources such as inforM, or send electronic mail to faculty, fellow students or friends at other universities.



University of Maryland

C.D. "DAN" MOTE JR.

University of Maryland President

When C.D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998 he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Three years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community, and in the world.

The University of Maryland is the state of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

Fulfilling that responsibility is a big job, but Mote is accustomed to that role. He spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, taught engineering and eventually became vice chancellor for university relations before coming to Maryland.

One of Mote's first tasks here was to serve on a governor's task force to examine the funding and organization of the University System of Maryland. The task force recommended, and the General Assembly enacted into law, a reaffirmation of the university's flagship status and a commitment to funding at levels comparable to the best public universities in the nation.

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by creating a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, continuing to emphasize the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's internal and external connections, and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress in each of these areas can be measured by the quality of its programs; the stature of its faculty; the talent of its students; its partnerships with business; its impact on the state's economy; its ability to apply discoveries to global, national and regional problems; and its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs

Over the past decade, Maryland's programs have been improving by leaps and bounds, and when it entered the first decade of the 21st century, it had 60 programs ranked in the top 25 nationally by U.S. News and World Report.

While the university's academic successes are across the board, it has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, education and journalism. The Robert H. Smith School of Business has achieved top10 rankings from such beacon publications as the Financial Times of London and the Wall Street Journal. Every department in the College of Education has programs ranked in the U.S. News' top 25, and the Counseling and Personnel Services Program has long been ranked tops in the nation.

Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. Nearly two dozen faculty are members of the national academies in their fields, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including politics, international affairs, social trends, economics, science and technology.

Talented Students

Over the past 10 years, it has become a virtual cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students improved from 3.00 to 3.72 from 1990 to 2000, while the average SAT score rose from 1173 to 1244 in the same period.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. As many as 40 percent of all new freshmen are now enrolled in such programs as Honors, Gemstone, College Park Scholars and other living-learning communities that bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting.

Business Partnerships

In order to fulfill its role as the state's most important asset, Mote has emphasized that the university must be engaged with the business and government communities in substantial and meaningful ways. Under his leadership, Maryland has provided its technological expertise to help the state improve its business processes through a web portal and has consulted with hundreds of Maryland businesses through its Technology Extension Program.

In the past year, the university also helped to attract Fujitsu Laboratories of America to open a research facility in College Park. Fujitsu, the third-largest communications company in the world, shares a building with the Joint Global Change Research Institute, a research partnership between the university and the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory.

Research with Impact

Sponsored research funding has more than doubled at the University of Maryland since 1990, adding significantly to the university's value as both an economic and an intellectual resource. In FY 2001, the university received $250 million in research grants, much of it directed at projects that will directly improve our social, educational and economic well-being.

Recent highlights of research funding include more than $10 million from the National Science Foundation to study a wide range of issues related to information technology, from hardware to sociological impacts of the Internet. NSF also funded two major teaching initiatives in the College of Education totaling more than $20 million and taking the university's expertise directly into Maryland schools to improve math and science instruction. Mote himself chaired an NSF-sponsored task force last year to study the feasibility of voting over the Internet.

World-Class Facilities

During Mote's second year in office, the university began the largest building boom in its history, with more than $100 million in new projects breaking ground that year. New facilities address every aspect of university life, from the arts to recreation to classrooms and laboratories, and, in creative partnership with the private sector, new residential facilities.

Highlights of the construction activity on the campus include the brand-new Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center; the Comcast Center, scheduled to open in 2002; new classrooms for chemistry, computer science, business and engineering; extensive renovations to the Adele H. Stamp Student Union; and new parking structures.

Mote also has led the development of a new campus master plan that aims at making the university a leader by example in the adoption of Smart Growth principles, ensuring that the campus retains its renowned beauty and has minimal impact on the surrounding environment.

Athletic Excellence

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience, not just a showcase to impress visitors and friends. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in last season's NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America.

"That's no accident," Mote says. "Institutions that are committed to excellence tend to be excellent in every endeavor. Our successes in basketball, lacrosse and other sports reflects our culture of quality as much as our successes in engineering, business, education and journalism."

State leaders in recent years have recognized the wisdom of Mote's assertion that the university is the state's greatest asset, and they have sought to sustain its success through significant budget increases. Every year of Mote's presidency, the General Assembly has increased the university's operating budget by about 10 percent.

The private sector, too, has recognized the importance of supporting the university. Early in Mote's third year, Maryland easily surpassed its seven-year $350 million fund-raising goal – 18 months early. Before the end of the sixth year of the Bold Vision•Bright Future Campaign, the university had raised about $400 million in gifts ranging from a few dollars to more than $25 million, to pay for scholarships, endowed professorships, new facilities and programs.

Four NCAA Qualifiers For Two Straight Years

DEBORAH A. YOW

University of Maryland Athletics Director

Dr. Deborah A. Yow is in the eighth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland ... a year in which she also successfully concluded her presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, an organization with a membership of more than 6,100 athletic administrators representing 1,600 colleges and universities in North America and Mexico.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony to her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability. Likewise, her election to the presidency of NACDA is an indication of the respect with which Dr. Yow is regarded in intercollegiate athletics and education in the U.S. and Canada.

Last year, Yow was named Female Sports Executive of the Year by the editors of Street & Smith's Sports Business Journal. In addition, she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

As a former member of the NCAA Management Council and NCAA Division I Budget Committee, Yow presented a strong voice for excellence and integrity at the highest levels of intercollegiate athletics. In these national roles she has represented the University of Maryland and the Atlantic Coast Conference with a balanced and proactive voice.

Maryland athletics director Deborah A. Yow was recently awarded the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award by the United States Sports Academy.

Since taking over at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all seven of the department's annual budgets (the first balanced budgets for the Terrapins in 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $33 million annually and the sizable prior debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided to student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of nearly 90 percent during her tenure.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 140 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The Maryland Department of Athletics has made remarkable progress under Yow's leadership. Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past seven years, Dr. Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and leader, she clearly models these principles. She was recently singled out by Street & Smith's Sports Business Journal as one of the leading athletic administrators in the U.S. A former basketball coach, she began her coaching career at the high school level in North Carolina before taking over as head women's coach at the University of Kentucky in 1976. She also achieved an outstanding coaching record as head coach at the University of Florida. She later moved into athletic administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as A.D. at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics, management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire Terrapin athletic program, Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets and our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our successes ... and the basis for our bright future."

Maryland TERRAPINS

Among The Nation's Best

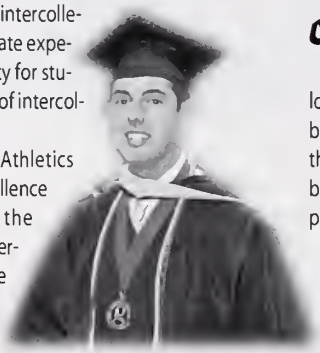
This is Maryland Athletics

At the University of Maryland, winning is not taken lightly. Like the rich history of all its sports programs, championships are a tradition.

Since the 1950s, Maryland has established itself as one of the most successful athletic programs in the nation. This type of success is no accident; it has been built year-by-year on the achievements of outstanding young men and women who were given the opportunity to excel both on and off the field of play. The victories, the championships and the national acclaim are all ingredients of the Maryland athletics program. Student-athletes who attend Maryland are part of a program and a university which thrives on tradition and excellence.

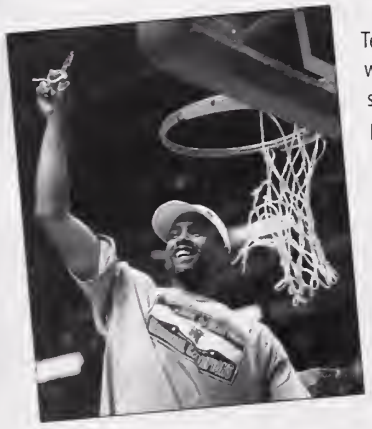
Academic Excellence

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty and alumni to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.



The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletic program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body. Since 1983, 88 percent of freshmen scholarship athletes who completed their eligibility at the University of Maryland earned their degrees.

Goals



The great thing about being a Terrapin is the commitment to hard work and dedication. At the University of Maryland, the athletics department is dedicated to supporting a well-balanced Division I program. Athletics director Deborah A. Yow and her dedicated coaches, administrators and staff have re-engineered the department into a responsive and financially sound model — with a clear vision and a determined drive toward national prominence.

Athletic Success

National championships, conference championships, national rankings and postseason play are all a part of the University of Maryland experience. The University of Maryland has established itself as one of the nation's elite athletics programs. The Terrapins have won 16 national championships, including a record seven consecutive by the women's lacrosse team (pictured). The Terrapins had plenty of reasons to celebrate when it came to intercollegiate athletics in 2000-01, another finish among the top 15 percent of all schools in the Sears Directors' Cup, which measures the overall athletic achievement in men's and women's sports.

Competition

Wearing the Maryland uniform means playing in front of some of the loudest and most supportive fans in the nation. It means playing against the best teams in the country, in the most prestigious conference in the country, the ACC. It means wearing the school colors with pride. It means doing your best in athletics and academics. It is a unique and special feeling being a Terrapin.

Athletes in the Community

From the media spotlight to the community spotlight, Terrapin student-athletes strengthen the ties of the local community by serving as role models. Community service is a key part of the Terrapins' agenda. Student-athletes support many community programs which help to enrich the lives of Maryland youth while teaching the importance of studying hard and saying "no" to drugs and alcohol. Representatives from the University of Maryland athletics department speak to participants and use their image and the appeal of sports to encourage Maryland children to stay in school, improve their reading and writing skills, and to receive their high school diplomas.

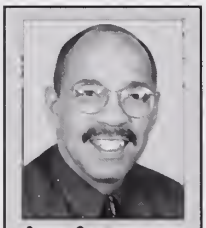
ACADEMIC SUPPORT & CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.



Don Pearman
Assistant Director (Wrestling Counselor)

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by associate athletics director Robert Koonce, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in Cole Field House. It features a study center that includes 24 desktop computers, private study cubicles, a tutoring center, classrooms, and individual offices for four professional academic counselors, a learning specialist, an assistant program coordinator, and two graduate assistants. In addition, the center's extended site is located in the Gossett Football Team House, and includes office space for three professional counselors and a 16-station desktop computer center.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Prospective student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Mentor program
- EDCP 108-J (Career decision making and planning)
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100/101 (First-year transitions to the university)

Mission

The mission of the unit is (1) to provide quality developmental programs and need based services that will enhance the opportunity to earn an undergraduate degree, (2) offer career development opportunities and (3) support the psychosocial growth of student athletes through special initiatives.

Staff

Nine full-time professionals, two graduate assistants, tutorial support staff and student associates comprise the unit's workforce.

ASCDU & The University

Primary academic advising is provided by professional advisors assigned to each student athlete by his or her home college, school or department. The ASCDU counselors serve as an important support network that coordinates and implements transitional and developmental programs to address the academic and career development needs of student athletes. In cooperation with the Office of Records and Registration, ASCDU monitors academic progress of student athletes to assure that NCAA, ACC, and University rules and regulations are met.

Location

The primary ASCDU unit is conveniently located on the ground floor of Cole Field House where student athletes have access to various resources and services. Each academic counselor has private office space in order to insure meeting privacy. A study table room is staffed by proctors and arranged to maximize student focus and concentration. The facility also houses a tutorial room devoted to servicing the learning needs of student athletes. The staff maintains two computer resource laboratories with a total of 40 personal computers containing up-to-date software packages. In addition, ASCDU coordinates a laptop computer service that provides each team access to laptop computers while traveling to away competitions.

There is also a satellite computer room in the Gossett Football Team House. Three of the nine ASCDU professionals are currently housed in the building.

The Future

In the summer of 2002, the $124 million Comcast Center will become the new home of the ASCDU unit. A 7,000 square foot wing has been developed to replace the current space in Cole Field House. The new home of ASCDU will be conveniently located on the floor where offices of coaches for 20 sports will also be placed. The close proximity was designed to facilitate communication among ASCDU staff, coaches and student athletes. The satellite computer lab in the Gossett Football Team House will continue to operate. In addition, a building addition of an auditorium which will seat 140 is currently planned for the Gossett Football Team House. That space will be available for use by the entire athletic program, including ASCDU.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

In the highly competitive collegiate wrestling world the outside-the-ring preparation of the student-athlete is a critical component to the in-the-pool success of any Division I program. Dwight Galt, Maryland's director of strength and conditioning and Craig Fitzgerald, who works with the wrestling team, believe strongly that a solid training program can dramatically improve levels of performance, as well as significantly reduce the chance of injury. The benefit of performing structured strength and power training throughout the entire year has allowed the Terps to reach new levels in physical development.

At the University of Maryland, the maximal development of athleticism is the primary goal of the strength and conditioning program. To accomplish this requires more than just strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, agility, flexibility, conditioning, plyometrics, and nutrition also play critical roles. The Terps' strength staff places substantial emphasis on all these areas, with special attention on the improvement of speed potential. Galt and his staff employ a wide range of state-of-the-art training methods to assist in enhancing all aspects of speed development.

The Terps are fortunate to train in one of the premier weight training facilities in the nation. Conveniently located in the Gossett Team House, this facility has excellent aesthetic appeal, with two magnificent skylights and large windows overlooking the field at Byrd Stadium. The Terps' spacious weight room includes 7,200 square feet of functional floor space, with two elevated offices that are easily accessible to the training floor.

ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE

The Tradition

Consistency. It's the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 49th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 82 national championships, including 40 in men's competition and 42 in women's. In addition, 120 men and 31 women have earned the coveted title of NCAA champion.

The conference had an immediate impact on the national college football scene in the fall of 1953 when the University of Maryland captured the first of what would eventually be five national football titles for the ACC. Clemson laid claim to the league's second national title in 1981 while Georgia Tech followed suit in 1990. Florida State pocketed national titles No. 4 and 5 in 1994 and 1999.

The nine schools that take to the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 373 first or second team gridiron All-Americas and 54 first-team academic All-Americas. ACC teams have had 1,485 players selected in the annual professional football draft, including 109 first round selections. A year ago, the nine ACC member institutions had 186 former players on NFL rosters during the regular season or playoffs.

If success is best measured in terms of wins and losses, then the ACC over the years has proved itself to be among the elite in Division I-A football. The ACC is the nation's second- winningest bowl conference as the nine current league teams are a combined 84-77-5 (.521) in post-season play. Since 1990, the ACC is one of only five conferences to have each of its schools play in a bowl game.

Georgia Tech and Florida State rank among the nation's winningest bowl teams. Among teams with 20-or-more bowl appearances, the Yellow Jackets are second with a 19-10 (.655) post-season record while the Seminoles are third at 17-10-2 (.621).

Over the past three years, ACC teams have posted a 17-14 mark against non-league AP-ranked opponents.

This past season the ACC had five consensus All-Americans and over the past four years has produced 22 consensus All-Americans. Since 1997, the ACC has had more first round draft picks (27) in the annual NFL draft than any other conference except the 12-team Southeastern Conference. The ACC also set two attendance marks during the 2000 season, drawing 2,653,816 fans over 54 home dates for a 49,145 per game mark.

2000-01 in Review

The 2000-01 academic year concluded with the league pocketing three more national team titles and three individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 39 national team titles over the last 11 years.

The ACC's 2000-01 national champions were North Carolina in women's soccer, Duke in men's basketball and Maryland in women's lacrosse. Overall, ACC teams posted a 73-56 (.566) mark in NCAA Tournament play.

The ACC placed at least one team in the Top 10 nationally in 15 of the 25 sports sponsored by the league. Other records of note during the 2000-01 season include 98 teams competing at NCAA Championships, five bowl teams and 43 Top 10 showings.

The ACC Academic Honor Roll record was broken for the 14th-straight year in 1999-2000 as 1,664 student-athletes were recognized for their work in the classroom.

A History

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members - Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest - drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of by-laws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971 when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when Georgia Tech was admitted. The Atlanta school withdrew from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State.
